

The Museum at Scone New South Wales.

The Clucket bell at the top is about 5 inches tall and has an interesting replacement tongue - in the shape of a Chinaman's head.

The small Condamine bears the tongue stamp of C. Anderson. It is probably not connected to Christy Andersen as the spelling would not be an error.